ANNUAL PET PARADE TO BE HELD IN NILES ON FRIDAY, OCTOBER 26

CHARMING GARDEN FETE SATURDAY AT SHINN HOME

Country Club Garden Group Sponsors Old Fashioned Party

The Country Club garden party, held Saturday afternoon at the J. C. Shinn garden, at Niles, was a success from the standpoint of a pleasant entertainment, and as a substantial financial nucleus for carrying out plans for a club house garden. Mrs. J. R. Whipple, garden chairman, was in charge of arrangements.

A delightful program, featuring Mrs. Nell Farrington Myers in a group of garden poems, Miss Dorothy Ormsby and Mrs. R. B. Boyer in garden songs, was enjoyed. Little Misses Jacqueline Lewis and Harriet Dias entertained with several dance numbers. Miss Milcent Shinn played several selections on the piano.

Mrs. Garret Norris, assisted by Miss Margaret Williamson, was popular as an Egyptian reader of horoscopes and chirography. Mrs. W. A. Sloan was enjoyed as a Gypsy fortune teller.

John Mack Williamson contributed the services of his donkey, and in a picturesque costume, conducted the riders.

Tea was served by Mrs. J. R. Whipple, Mrs. August May, Mrs. F. Robie, Mrs. W. H. Ford and Mrs. Josephine A. Brown. Misses Elinor and Rosalie Harrold, in quaint costume, assisted with the serving.

Particularly charming at the affair were several in old-fashioned dress. Miss Dorothy Ormsby was beautiful in a white gown worn many years ago by her great-grandmother. Mrs. Franklin Brown and Mrs. Lawrence Bunting were attractively garbed. There was an interesting display of old-time relics.

Gala Day For Animals And Children... Being Planned at School

Plans for the second annual Pet Parade, scheduled for Friday, October 26, are being drawn up this week at the Niles grammar school. The event was made an annual one last year, when public acclaim and interest convinced school officials of the parade's value.

Sponsored in connection with the Latham Foundation for the prevention of cruelty to animals, the annual march features dogs, cats, ducks, goats, ponies, calves, and innumerable other animals near to the children's hearts. Each arranges a vehicle for his pet, and pulls it along in the line of march; or it pulls him if it is big enough. The classes of the school are assigned sections in the parade, which will proceed down the length of First street.

Awards will be given this time in the form of ribbons, rather than prizes, as was done last year.

The event this year will be held in the morning at 9:30 o'clock, according to Principal E. Dixon Bristow. Last time the parade was held after school hours and the fall of darkness periled the effect.

Bristow stated that the teachers and children are working to make the gala occasion better than the last.

FIRST COLLECTION IN SCOUT DRIVE TURNED IN MONDAY

$ 89 Incomplete Return From Niles Area To Date

Hopes that the Niles quota in the Boy Scout fund drive may be reached this year were considerably raised Monday evening when incomplete returns for the first leg of the subscription brought in $89.00.

The funds were handed over to E. Dixon Bristow, community chairman, Monday night at the Memorial building. Bristow relayed the sum to Dr. Holman, township drive director.

Inasmuch as returns at the meet were not complete, and with several "captains" still to make their report, the officials feel that considerably more may be obtained before the close of the drive.

E. E. Glassbrook, Chamber of Commerce captain, stated this week that his canvass will soon be finished. The total will be swelled by the amount subscribed by the civic group members.

Miss Alice Dwyer, of San Anselmo, spent several days last week with Mrs. Harvey Braun.

BRISTOW IS NAMED MEN'S CLUB HEAD AT FALL BANQUET

Captain Hansen Retained As Treasurer In Annual Balloting

Elected at the annual fall banquet, held last Wednesday night at the Niles Congregational church, E. Dixon Bristow, principal of the Niles Grammar school, will serve throughout the coming year as president of the Men's Club, Washington township organization. Bristow had been vice president.

Those named to fill the other offices are: H. Harrold, of Decoto, vice president; Barton L. Webb, of Centerville, secretary. Capt. P. C. Hansen, also of Centerville, was retained as treasurer, a post he has held for a number of years.

Former officers of the club were: Allen G. Norris, E. Dixon Bristow, A. J. Rathbone and Captain Hansen.

The fall meeting, at which E. W. Jacobson, educator, spoke on political trends in Europe, was acclaimed by the club members. All complimented Master-of-Ceremonies Frank Bristow on his excellent musical program.

Judge Allen G. Norris, retiring president, was the target for a number of good natured quips and stunts in honor of his forthcoming marriage to Miss Clara-belle Logan, of Alvarado.

DRIVERS UNHURT IN MINOR ACCIDENTS LAST WEEK-END

Two minor automobile accidents were recorded in this district last week-end, in which both drivers escaped injury.

Lawrence Dutra, of Irvington, drove his car into a truck trailer on the Driscoll road Saturday. The accident occurred at an intersection at which the clear view of the road was obscured. Dutra's car was slightly damaged.

Forced off the road by another driver, F. R. Moore, of 744 Fifty-third street, Oakland, narrowly escaped serious injury when his machine plunged over an embankment near Kilkare Woods Sunday. Moore's car, supported by several willow trees on the brink of a further fall, was not damaged beyond a broken headlight.

REBEKAHS IN VISIT TO ORPHAN HOME AT GILROY

Twenty-eight Niles Rebekahs and members of their families went to Gilroy Sunday for the annual visit of the local lodge to the Rebekah's children's home there.

The contribution to the home this time, in addition to quantities of jellies and preserved foods, was a huge ball of tin foil, weighing forty pounds, the sale of which will net the institution a tidy sum. The home is maintained by the order for orphaned children of deceased lodge members. There are about seventy children being cared for at present.

During the afternoon, the visitors from Niles were entertained by a special program put on by the orphans. The home band played a number of selections.

BEER MISTAKEN FOR GASOLINE CAUSES ALARM

THE NILES Fire Department came within an ace of being summoned to protect residents south of the bridge from a load of beer Thursday night, when word was hastily sent in that a gasoline truck had capsized at the intersection of the Centerville road and Mission highway. A correction of the report came in time to prevent the siren from blowing.

The beer crash, which scattered barrels for yards over the highway and railroad right-of-way, occurred when Oreste Olivasti, the driver, became confused at the intersection and applied his brakes too suddenly. The load was bound for Sacramento. Neither Olivasti nor his wife, who was riding with him, was hurt. They had to break a window in the truck cab to get out.

The truck was righted, reloaded, and was little the worse for wear.

CUBAN TARIFF IS DETRIMENTAL TO STATE, SAYS FREE

Points Out Grave Danger To Agriculture In Trade Treaty

Voicing an objection to the Reciprocal Tariff Treaty with Cuba before a large assemblage of Washington township farmers at the Washington Union High school last Wednesday, Arthur M. Free, tariff authority, pointed out disadvantages in the agreement for California agriculture.

Free was particularly careful to point out that the old-fashioned constitutional method of making treaties, whereby the entire nation is aware of the treaty content, has been cast aside, and that the Cuban agreement had been made secretly and without due regard for the diverse sections of the country.

The speaker declared that California agriculture, because of the fact that its products did not loom large in dollar and cents value, is being traded off for automobiles and other manufactured articles. Whereas some sections of the country, particularly in the southern and mid-western states, will profit by the treaty, California will suffer.

Inasmuch as California farm labor cannot compete with the excessively low Cuban wages, retention of the treaty as it stands will result in a lower standard here, Free said, adding that it was an injustice to California taxpayers for this country to open the doors to cheaply produced agricultural products which will be in direct competition with our better paid ones.

Ben S. Allen, secretary of the Growers' Tariff League supplemented Free's talk with a plea for local farmers to concentrate on defeat of a similar treaty pending for Mexico.

3-Year-Old Child Suffers Bad Burns

Little La Verne Harvey, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Harvey, was seriously burned while visiting friends in Oakland last week. First aid was administered in that city. She was brought home later and placed under the care of Dr. N. Catherine Holden. The child will recover.

A. J. Rathbone has returned from a principal's convention held at Coronado last week.

REORGANIZED BOY SCOUT TROOP WILL MEET HERE TONIGHT

Niles Troop To Resume Active Scout Work After Lapse

Officially reorganized recently with the appointment of Clarence Crane as scoutmaster, Troop No. 1, of the Niles Boy Scouts, will get under way tonight when the first meeting is called at the scout house.

All of the boys have been contacted by the new scoutmaster and informed of the initial meet. E. Dixon Bristow, grammar school principal, has announced the meet to the school classes. It was decided at last week's meet of the scout committee that all boys who wish to join the troop should be urged to attend tonight.

The scout committee, intent on seeing the boys off to a good start, will be on hand, as will Scoutfield Executive I. P. Beasley.

Under the leadership of Chairman Harvey Braun, the scout committee completed their organization last Thursday evening. Members were duly registered and plans drawn for meeting times and activities.

THIEF SURPRISED IN ROBBERY TRY SUNDAY EVENING

Apartment Above Oliver Garage Ransacked; Burglar Flees

Evidently surprising a thief in the act of ransacking an apartment adjoining theirs, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Oliver returned home from a fishing trip Sunday evening just in time to save quantities of clothing and other valuable articles.

The thief, who was upstairs when the Olivers and Bert McKernan drove into the garage below, was heard to walk along the hall. Thinking that Rufus Silveria, one of their employees who occupies the apartment across from theirs, was at home, the Olivers paid no attention to the sounds. Several minutes later, just before going upstairs, Oliver noticed a broken window at the back of the machine shop. Suspecting that all was not right, the Olivers rushed to the floor above, where Mrs. Oliver discovered that all of Silveria's clothing and bedclothes from another room had been carefully piled in a large blanket, all ready to be packed away.

The thief, apparently realizing that his escape to the ground floor was cut off, leaped to the ground from the roof at the rear of the garage. He was not apprehended. The theft attempt took place between 6:30 and 7 o'clock.

Constable O. W. Ebricht was called, and made an inspection of the premises.

Dr. N. Catherine Holden has opened an office at 717 First street, Niles, furnished with the most modern surgical and physiotherapy equipment. She is especially prepared to care for accident cases and those requiring emergency surgery. Miss Mary Rodriguez has been taken into the office as interpreter.—Jy19tf

Mrs. Clarence Waldner, of Taft, arrived Sunday to visit with her mother, Mrs. H. R. Hunt. Mrs. Waldner's husband is slowly recovering from a serious illness at the Alta Bates Hospital in Berkeley.

THE EDITOR RETURNS

In His Absence, Register Better Than Ever

Looking over the files of the Township Register for the five publication days that the writer and his wife were motoring through the middle west, we have ample proof that our presence here is not essential to a creditable paper in Niles. The boys—Frank Ferry and Paul Donovan, aided by W. E. Legge during part of the week—carried the banner high. The writer is proud of them, and grateful to them for their industry and trustworthiness.

Traveling a step ahead of the mails, the publisher came in contact with but one copy of the Register while he was away, the first one issued, that of September 13. It was rather surprising to us that we did not worry about how things were going in the Register office, but the fact of the matter is, we gave the paper scarcely a minute of our thoughts for the month's vacation.

During all the years in business, never before have we been out of constant touch with our affairs for a full month's time. This trip establishes a record, but a record that, according to our mental attitude today, will soon be broken. We like this idea of traveling around, and every day seeing a new landscape, free from the constant thought of "getting the paper out" and getting it out with sufficient lineage to pay the bills. From now on, it will be our motto to burn more gasoline and less electricity. The wanderlust that kept us moving in our youth, has again come to life. The Gypsy in us is astir.

STANDING WITH THE CAPITALISTS

We have hardly gotten our political bearings, but before the campaign closes the Register will be found out in front with no doubt where it stands in the gubernatorial contest. We had scarcely crossed the California line at Yuma before we were getting things fired at us on Sinclair. While stopping in the valley of the Colorado, our hostess, a very prominent Arizona woman, who strangely enough sleeps and cooks in California, has her personal effects in California, but votes in Arizona, and has been signally honored by Arizonians, told us that if Sinclair was elected we would not have to worry about our property—that gentleman would take it over and save us from anxiety about our vested interests, because there wouldn't any longer be any vested interests. This brought a smile from her husband, and a startled look from the writer.

Now, it so happens, that our friend owns quite a little irrigated land on the Colorado river, from which for many years she hasn't made a cent to repay her for all the hard labor in the desert sun. Just what super-capitalism has done for her, really a very brilliant newspaper woman, is beyond us to fathom.

During the past dozen years the big interests have had things quite their own way in California. The late Jimmy Rolph was the last word in the alphabet of capitalist greed. And what did we get? What did my friend get for the fine alfalfa she grew, the tender and appetizing lettuce that she marketed, and the cantaloupes that reached the market right along with the first to appear? She got deeper in debt. Yet this woman becomes a political ally of Merriam, whose backers have but one idea—to guarantee the dividends of corporate interests and guarantee, by state troops, the quiet acquiescence of labor to whatever wage capitalists may care to offer.

The writer asked his hosts how things stood between Sinclair and Merriam in that locality. The husband answered that "everything was Sinclair," and the wife sadly confirmed his forecast.

Editorial Comment

NORMAN H. PARKS, Publisher Register

Just at this point of the political discussion the Sunday's world series game started and we turned to a happier pastime than discussing our impending doom.

ANYWAY, WE HAD A VACATION

Late in the afternoon we began our trek across the sand hills west of Yuma, and as we looked into the bleakness of America's Sahara desert, we concluded that we had been indeed wise when we bought a new car and took a vacation. We'll get that much out of our property anyway. After Sinclair is elected—and he is going to be elected—our newspaper and other interests will be on the toboggan sliding into the business hell, to which otherwise quite sane newspapers tell us, we are bound if the Pasadena author wins in November.

A DIRTY CAMPAIGN LIE

One of the things that we remarked, quite frequently through Arizona and Southern California, was the almost total absence of cars carrying license plates of middlewest or eastern states. Through Arizona we actually saw more California cars than Arizona cars. On our entire trip across that state, we are sure we did not see over a half-dozen cars of other states than California and Arizona. California cars were for the most part traveling east. For an entire day traveling from the Arizona border to Los Angeles we only saw two cars carrying out-of-state license plates.

Picking up one of Harry Chandler's papers—he now owns two in Los Angeles, and Willie has nothing on him—we read that the riff-raff of the country was heading for California to get into the prospective poor-man's paradise that Epic plan was offering, should it be victorious in the coming election. The labor-baiter's sheet, chief apologist for the Militiaman Merriam, said that the emigration station at Yuma and other border highway towns were flooded with bums trying to crash the gates of California, the promised land. That was a lie, and all other stories to that effect are lies. If the poor are flocking to California, they are avoiding Yuma like a pestilence, and are using the freight trains.

EPIC WASN'T HEARD OF THEN

It was something like a year ago that the Rolph administration, egged on by a heartless press and a cold-blooded union of civic organizations, was trying to stop the influx of non-property holders into the state of California. While they could not lawfully turn any man or woman back from the state border, they were attempting it by intimidation. The clamor arose then, that all the discontented people and paupers of the country were trying to sponge on the liberality of our good citizens. There was no Sinclair then running for governor, no Epic plan in the offing, yet the hordes, according to press dispatches, were storming our borders crying for bread and bed.

Someway or other this propaganda put out by the Militiaman Merriam does not ring true in the light of past events, and definite knowledge of the writer about conditions on the border.

DISPROVE THE CHARGE, OR QUIT!

Coming over the radio, we heard in Arizona the speech of Raymond Haight. Now Haight made a very serious charge against Militiaman Merriam. The charge was direct and unequivocal. You know what the charge was. Unless the cat's paw of Friend Richardson can instantly disprove the charge by indisputable evidence he should immediately withdraw from the gubernatorial contest and instantly resign the governorship. We were amazed at the revelation, and more amazed that silence, naturally accepted as guilt, should have met the accusation. If the charge is true, personally the writer would prefer a yellow dog as governor, if no better material were at hand, that a man over whom such a suspicion hung like a mantle of shame.

"AND PARKS TOLD YOU SO"

Picking up the Phoenix Gazette while visiting that marvelously progressive city, we read two items that brought us up with a start. One we didn't expect to happen so soon, though we anticipated such an exigency as a natural consequence of the outcome of the late primary election. The other item struck down politically an appellate judge, close friend of Supreme Court Judge Ira F. Thompson.

The ballots had hardly been counted, marking up our arch enemy, Thompson, winner in the non-partisan contest, than another contempt case shot across the journalistic horizon. The judiciary, doubtless feeling that it was an altogether safe practice to fine and jail recalcitrant editors (for had not the voters just approved the practice in electing Thompson to the bench) hailed the San Francisco Chronicle and its editor, together with the noted Chester Rowell, before that tribunal, found it and its editors guilty of contempt and assessed a fine of $1000, for printing a story that Lamson was to be granted a new trial by the supreme court. Well, Lamson was granted a new trial, but the Chronicle was too enterprising, it seems, to suit the hierarchy of the courts, and scooping its competitors by several weeks, it paid a big "grand" for its forwardness.

Just how Rowell and the Chronicle managing editor escaped the bastille is not just plain, but it must have been due to the benign influence of Justice Thompson, who was somewhat put in a hole by the whole proceedings. It just offered Parks that opportunity to tell the press of California, "that I told you so."

TIN GODS SPLATTERED WITH MUD

The other item told of charges of bribery against Galvin Craig, appellate judge, and friend of Ira Thompson. Craig had always been held up as a lily-white individual, who never in his life did human wrong. We are sorry about these bribery charges. We had been given to understand that the judiciary is something more than human, for have we not been jailed for insinuations that even a judge might err! On top of this another Los Angeles judge has been confined to a sanitarium for two months to sober up. He admits he is an habitual drunkard. All of which doesn't ring true to this theory, of which Justice Ira F. Thompson is the chief exponent in California, "that a judge can do no wrong."

AS FICKLE AS A WOMAN'S LOVE

A lot of our readers, we are sure, want to know how Tom, famous cat of the Register office, fared while his master was away having a good time. Tom put on weight during the past thirty days, and his look of contentment has broadened in our absence. We're afraid that Frank and Paul, chief helmsmen of the Register office, have superseded us in old Tom's affection, though my fellow laborers in this good vineyard insist that it took Tom a long time to reconcile himself to our absence. Anyway, Tom proved to be much like us human beings: why weep for a friend far away if you have a pal near at home. Tom lies on the table with our typewriter as we write this and we have just asked him if his love was not quite as fickle as a girl's; he opened up his mouth in a wide yawn to cover his embarrassment, and then turned over on his back, inviting us to rub his ribs. The old hypocrite!

YES, WE'RE GLAD TO BE HOME

Are we glad to be back? Why, yes; we like the people around here, and some of them seemed honestly glad to have us back again. We love California, adore Niles and Washington township and are wedded to the Township Register, which, after a six-thousand-mile trip, we find to be a pretty good property to hold.

As time goes on, we will give you a chapter now and then on high spots in our month's trip. We'll tell you about our first and only experience camping out in the open. Then we'll tell you about the ol' swimmin' hole. Boy, it was cold!

Sheep as Weed Destroyers

Sheep will eradicate most weeds that infest barn lots, hog pens, lanes and other enclosures near farm buildings, notes a correspondent in the Missouri Farmer. Some of the more noxious weeds commonly found in such places that sheep like are dog fennel, smart weed, and jimson. Dog fennel and smart weeds are eaten rapidly by sheep and, although they show less partiality to jimsions, they are fond of the seed pod which grows in the fork of the weed. Weeds of this kind are usually difficult to control owing to the fact that cattle and hogs do not consume them and that pens and lots are frequently rough, small, or otherwise inconvenient to mow. A small flock of sheep will, therefore, by consuming such noxious weeds not only save the farmer labor in fighting weeds and prevent their spreading from this source, but turn a worthless growth of plants into valuable wool and mutton.

Grass Holds Soil, Long Fingers Aid Fertility

Grass is a miser. Its long fingers hold onto the soil and soil fertility as a miser holds onto money. It not only prevents erosion, but well managed grazing land loses less fertility, because less is taken from the soil by pasture plants and part of that which is removed is restored directly through the manure of grazing animals.

Land planted to corn on an 8 to 10 per cent slope in Missouri and North Carolina loses 15 to 17 tons of soil per acre annually. Land growing bluegrass or lespedeza loses only 0.8 to 0.9 tons per acre. Similar results were obtained in a comparison of the native grass sod and cleaned tilled kaffir in central Kansas, and of cotton and grassland in southern states. Decaying grass roots keep the soil porous and favorable to the absorption of moisture.

SPLIT SKIRT SEEN IN FALL FASHIONS

Seems Predominant Trend of Autumn Mode.

The split skirt seems to be one of the predominant trends of the advance showings of fall fashions.

The split is used in both daytime and evening clothes, and is placed either at the side, the front or the back. Sometimes, as a matter of fact, it appears at both sides of the skirt.

There is a definite interest in back movement, many of the advance styles showing tunics that button up the back and skirts that are finished with either a cluster of pleats or a slit at the back.

Sometimes the slight skirt in evening fashions is accented by facing of a vivid contrasting color.

There's a tendency toward swish for evening skirts, as last season's trains have been pruned down to embryonic proportions, and now are represented usually only by a back flare at the hemline, or by a sudden ripple of pleats, or by a slash.

Tunics are all over the place, both for daytime and evening, often flaring below the belt, and accenting the straight slimness of the skirt.

Some designers show a slightly longer skirt for daytime wear, and others leave the length unchanged.

MORE RIBBONS

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Watch hair ribbons! Even the older girls are wearing them, and with flattering results. It is quite a fad to tie a wee ribbon about one's muchly curled and waved tresses, as one lounges about the home in becoming negligee—also on the beach for convenience. Growing girls, of the age of the little miss pictured, or thereabouts, are most prettily beribboned these days. The dainty party frock of sprigged organdy which this charming maiden is wearing, is set off to perfection with a girlish tie of pastel ribbon which is generously bowed and streamered at the front. Little bows of ribbon on the puffed sleeves, too! The styling of this party dress is so winsome, the thought occurs that it would be an excellent model to copy in wool challis for fall or in one of those very attractive washable rayon prints which are so practical for children's wear.

HIGH-STYLE ITEMS

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Women who delight in veils can wear them to their heart's content, for they are decidedly in the fashion picture. Worn with just the right air, veils can be coquettish and glamorous and the newer veils have that way about them. The pointed contour of the veil pictured is a recent accent which will especially delight the young girl who takes delight in an air of sophistication. Lace slippers for evening match the lace frock. Padova, who created this exquisite type of footwear, has combined black lace and black satin in this model, with white satin under the lace to bring out the delicate patterning. A great vogue is in promise for this type of luxury footwear, this coming fall and winter.

Bothersome Goat Grass

Where wheat is grown continuously, eradication of goat grass is difficult. Some farmers sow infested spots while the plants are still green and burn the straw as soon as dry. Others avoid infested spots in harvesting, and later pile straw on them and burn it. Still others disk fields as soon as the grass seedlings are well up in the fall and before the wheat is sown. Control of goat grass is not difficult where rotation with row crops is possible. It is easily killed by cultivation. The only complicating factor is the difficulty of killing plants growing in fence rows, roadways and other waste places. The grass does not compete with native grasses in undisturbed soil.

Watch the Lambs

Lambs that play and frolic are usually in good health but you need to see about those that have drooping ears or lag behind the flock, says a writer in the Missouri Farmer. If you pick one up that seems very light you have waited too long, that lamb is out of condition. If you have owned sheep any length of time just a glance over the flock will tell you whether all is well. See them if you can once every day, once a week look them over very closely. In that way you will detect trouble before it has done you serious damage. Sheep need watching through the warm season.

Around the Farm

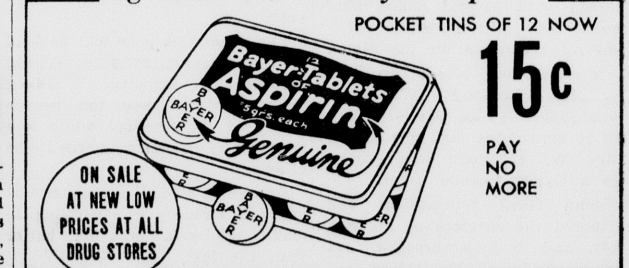

Grasshoppers grow by changing their skins.

The agricultural extension department of North Carolina state college is conducting a campaign for better rural homes.

The originator of the Magle hog, now popularly called the Poland China, was David W. Magle of Butler county, Ohio. By crossing four different breeds, he produced the hog in 1840.

Farmers Group Opposes Reciprocal Cuban Treaty

At a meeting of the growers of this community held Wednesday evening, October 10, at Washington Union High school, under the auspices of the California Division, Farmers Educational and Co-operative Union of America, Washington Township Local No. 189, the following resolutions were unanimously endorsed:

Whereas, during the season from November to May this district is a large shipper of green vegetables;

Whereas, the growing of these vegetables constitutes a major industry for this community;

Whereas, the competition which already exists tend to reduce the income to the growers of these vegetables;

Whereas, this community also produces large quantities of sugar beets, as well as fresh fruits, dried fruits and nuts;

Therefore, be it resolved that we, the farmers of Washington township, do hereby go on record as opposed to the lowering of any tariff upon any of the said commodities, as being unjust to us and of great injury to the whole community;

Be it Further Resolved, that we petition our senators to use their best efforts to have the senate of the United States resume its constitutional powers in this regard, to the end that those who will be affected by any change in tariffs may have full opportunity to present their case before any change is made therein;

Be it Further Resolved, that we petition the president, the secretary of state, and other officials, including the Tariff Commission, to grant a hearing upon the schedules affixed to "The Reciprocal Tariff Treaty with Cuba;" also for the schedules now being considered in relation to a similar treaty which is now under negotiation with Mexico, to the end that our state may not be forced into an unfair competition with a country of a lower standard of living than prevails generally in the United States of America.

Be it Further Resolved, that copies of these resolutions be sent to the national president of the Farmers Educational and Co-operative Union; also to all California members of the national legislature.

M. S. ALMEIDA,
President.

J. H. DURHAM,
Vice President.
(MRS.) W. A. SLOAN,
Secretary-Treasurer.

CHAMBER GIVES FARMERS SUPPORT IN TARIFF FIGHT

Adding their voice to many raised to protest of tariff agreements that are detrimental to California agriculture, the Niles Chamber of Commerce voted unanimously Monday to adopt a resolution petitioning President Roosevelt to make necessary changes in the reciprocal Cuban pact, and to henceforth give the farmers of the nation ninety days' notice when similar treaties are to be drawn.

The resolution was voted after the group had heard a communication from the Growers' Tariff League, of San Francisco. W. B. Kirk supplemented the reading with a few words in explanation of the dangers involved in the Cuban pact, and urged that the chamber take an active step toward its removal.

E. E. Glassbrook, chamber committeeman for the Boy Scout fund drive, reported to the assemblage that the collection for the chamber is almost completed. He stated that many members have contributed through other organizations.

E. Dixon Bristow, community fund chairman, told briefly of the meeting scheduled for Monday evening at which funds collected to date would be turned over to the Boy Scout executives.

A resolution, suggesting that all county roads in the state be placed under a single state authority was rejected by the civic group.

Mr. and Mrs. George Emerson; and sons visited relatives and friends in Marin county Sunday.

More than 200 couples thronged the floor of the Washington high school gymnasium Saturday night to make the annual Lions Club dance one of the most successful ever sponsored by the local group. The Sunny Californians furnished the music.

Following the present emphasis of the service club on Americanism, the decorations of the hall were in red, white and blue, with streamers, flags and bunting.

Under the guidance of Harold De Leon, chairman, the following committees made arrangements for the affair: Joe Jason, Frank Madruga, M. MacDonald, Ed Lauppe, Loren Merriott, Allen G. Norris and A. J. Rathbone. The committee was assisted by the entire club.

HUSKERS TRAMPLE EMERYVILLE FRIDAY AFTERNOON; 44 TO 6

Beat Albany Tuesday For Second Victory In Five Days

Running off their plays as though at signal practice, the Washington Huskers marched up and down the field Friday afternoon to obliterate Emeryville under a 44 to 6 score in the initial league tilt of the season. The local lads scored in every quarter.

Al Muniz, Husker workhorse, accounted for five of the Centerville scores behind deadly interference. He ambled across once after taking a perfect pass from Frank Medeiros. The Huskers scored 18 points in the first quarter, 13 in the second, 7 in the third and six in the last. The diminishing tally is in proportion to the number of varsity men who were replaced by second-stringers. Ed Rose and Frank Medeiros each accounted for one touchdown.

Coach Jess Regli, pleased with the effective aggregation under his command this season, stated that their scoring ability is result of plays that "click." The line is opening holes, the blockers are moving down the secondary and the ball carriers are stepping high, wide and handsome.

Superiority of the Husker team is proved by the statistics:

	W.	E.
Yds. from scrimmage	333	3
Yds. lost	28	28
Passes attempted	14	25
Passes completed	5	11
Passes intercepted	1	1
Yds. gained, passes	106	167
Total yds. gained	439	170
First downs	19	9

Emeryville threw passes to all points of the compass, but the Husker aerial defense was on its toes.

Tuesday afternoon, the Albany high school eleven, inexperienced but game, was sent home smarting under a 46 to 6 defeat imposed by the Huskers. Coach Jess Regli used numbers of his second string men, even the C Team.

Tomorrow afternoon the Huskers will again defend their own back yard, this time from the invading Foothills team. Local supporters of the Centerville aggregation are looking for another high score.

The game will start at 3:30 p. m.

Accidental Death Is Verdict At Inquest

A verdict of accidental death, and exoneration of the train crew and company of all blame, was returned by a coroner's jury Monday afternoon at an inquest at the office of Deputy Coroner F. F. Botelho on the death of Miss Laura Lewis, 17 and Manuel C. Silva, 28, killed when their car was struck by a San Francisco bound passenger at the Cherry avenue crossing on October 5.

Miss Lewis was instantly killed. Silva died a short time later at an Oakland hospital.

P. T. A. May Sponsor Movie for Boy Scouts

The first of a series of ten minute travelogues to be given by members at subsequent meetings, was given by Mrs. Jack Williamson, at the Tuesday meet of the Centerville chapter of the Parent-Teachers' Association. Mrs. Williamson spoke on Florida.

Business at the session was concerned with a selection of some sort of entertainment for the Centerville Boy Scout troop. There was some discussion of obtaining a motion picture that would be of real educational value for the boys.

STRICKEN

J. Davilla, Centerville man, suffered a heart attack last Thursday while walking on Main street. He was treated by a local physician, then rushed to the Fairmont hospital in Oakland in the Botelho ambulance.

TWO PIONEER RESIDENTS CALLED TO FINAL REST

A. G. Francisco and J. R. Rose Taken After 60 Years In Town

Centerville lost two of its venerable pioneer residents during the last few days, when death came for Antoine G. Francisco (Tony Francis), 65, and Joseph F. Rose, 76.

Rose, who had lived here for 60 years, was sometimes known as Joe "Salz," having been a foreman at the Salz warehouse in Centerville for many years. He suffered a stroke Sunday morning, and passed away almost immediately. He had not been in good health for several years. During the months when he was able to be about, Rose always seated himself on the front porch of his home and waved to his friends. His familiar figure will be missed by the townspeople.

He was the husband of Mrs. Everest A. Rose and the father of Mrs. Alice Fernandes, Mrs. Elvira Costa, Joseph A. Rose and the late Mrs. Clara Sequiera. The latter died about two months ago.

He was a member of the Mission Peak Lodge, No. 114, I. O. O. F., of Irvington, and Council

No. 5, U. P. E. C., of Centerville. Funeral was Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Chapel of Palms, under the auspices of the I. O. O. F. Interment in the Irvington cemetery.

Antone G. Francisco, well-known throughout the district as an excellent workman, passed away last Wednesday after a long illness. He had lived in Centerville for 64 years, coming to this district with his parents from the Azores when he was one year old. He was a trusted and valued workman on the Stevenson ranch for many years.

He was the husband of the late Annie Francisco, and father of Mrs. A. K. Silva and A. Patrick Francis. He was a member in good standing of the Centerville councils of the Knights of Columbus, U. P. E. C. and U. P. P. E. C.

Funeral was held Friday from the home of the deceased on North Main street. It proceeded to the Holy Ghost church, where a high mass was said by the Rev. Father A. De Souza and Father John Leal. Interment was in the Holy Ghost cemetery under the direction of the Chapel of Palms.

COMMUNITY PLAY IS PLANNED BY LIONS CLUB

Plans to produce a community play early next year were discussed at the Lion Club meeting last week, after word had been received from a New York organization interested in promotion of neighborhood theatricals.

The play, entitled "When Men Wed," will demand a one hundred per cent male cast, to be drafted from the ranks of prominent business men in Washington township. A similar play, called "Casey's Trial," staged in this district several years ago, was a tremendous success.

"When Men Wed" will be produced some time in January, members of the club said. The high school auditorium will be the place.

At the same meeting last week, the Lions decided to take no action on a suggestion made by president Joe Jason, that a whistle be installed in Centerville to sound the noon hours and meeting times of the club.

The standing committee on the police protection district was instructed to begin a tentative investigation of the possibility of creating a district in which the night patrol may be still more effective. Members of the committee are: Captain Hansen, Frank Madruga and Fred Rogers.

Eastern Star Enjoys Social Time Recently

C Team Ekes Out 7-0 Win Over Emeryville

A well-executed forward pass in the final quarter, Nakamura to Luna, saved the day for the Washington high Class C team last Thursday when they met the Emeryville weight team in Oakland.

Coach Manuel Nunes stated that his small gladiators were getting the knack of the game and would be hard to beat henceforth. They will meet the Albany midgets at Albany this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Steele, of San Francisco, father and mother of Mrs. Robert Blacow are visiting at the Blacow home in Centerville.

The Misses Harriet and Emma Norris recently spent several days visiting in San Francisco and Oakland.
